

APPENDIX B

Greg Callus, the Financial Times' Editorial Complaints Commissioner, has published his third Quarterly Report to the Appointments and Oversight Committee, covering the period 1 April to 16 July 2015.

In this period, there were two complaints properly received, and the resolution of one complaint from the previous quarter.

- The first complaint received this quarter was adjudicated, and found a breach of Clause 1.2 (misleading) requiring clarification, and an accepted inaccuracy.
- The second complaint received this quarter was received shortly before the drafting of the third Quarterly Report, and has not yet been adjudicated.
- The complaint from the previous quarter was thoroughly investigated, and adjudicated. Although no breach of the Code disclosed, the Adjudication noted that an apology had been rightly given and that a footnote required amendment to reflect the position of the complainant.

These Quarterly Summaries, and all Adjudications, are now published on FT.com, under 'About Us' > 'Corporate Responsibility' > 'FT Editorial Code', or by clicking on this link:
